

BismillahiRehmaaniraheem.

Starting with the name of Allah who is Most Merciful and beneficent.

Respected principal, vice principal, teachers and all my dear school fellows Assalam o Alieikum. This is Mahnoor from 9th Class and I'm here for paying a huge tribute to all fathers.

Today, we gather here to celebrate a special day dedicated to those remarkable individuals who hold a unique place in our lives. They are the guiding lights, the pillars of strength, and the epitome of love and support. Today, we honor and pay tribute to fathers around the world on this auspicious occasion of Father's Day.

As American poet Anne Sexton once said, "It doesn't matter who my father was; it matters who I remember he was." Fathers play an irreplaceable role in shaping our lives, instilling values, and imparting wisdom. They are the ones who stand by us through thick and thin, offering their unwavering support and unconditional love. They might not always know everything or make all the right decisions, but their intentions are pure, and their efforts are always driven by their love for us.

Today, let us express our gratitude to our fathers for the sacrifices they have made, the countless sleepless nights spent worrying about our well-being, and the endless love they have bestowed upon us. We may not always understand their ways or see eye to eye, but deep down, we know their intentions are rooted in our best interests.

American author and humorist, Clarence Budington Kelland, once said, "My father didn't tell me how to live; he lived, and let me watch him do it." Fathers are our role models, our heroes who lead by example. They teach us the importance of hard work, perseverance, and integrity through their own actions. Their dedication and commitment inspire us to be the best versions of ourselves.

On this day, let us remember and honor not only our biological fathers but also those who have played the role of father figures in our lives. It may be an uncle, a grandfather, a mentor, or a friend who has stepped up when we needed guidance and support. Their presence and influence have made a lasting impact on our journey.

In the words of former U.S. President Barack Obama, "Any fool can have a child. That doesn't make you a father. It's the courage to raise a child that makes you a father." Today, let us appreciate the courage, dedication, and love that fathers embody. Let us thank them for their tireless efforts, their sacrifices, and their unwavering love.

So, on this Father's Day, let us reach out to our fathers, near or far, and express our love and appreciation. Let us make them feel cherished and valued for the profound impact they have had on our lives. Today and every day, let us celebrate fathers for their love, guidance, and the invaluable lessons they have taught us.

That's all and thank you to all of you.

Stay Blessed.
